About West Yorkshire Police...

West Yorkshire Police serve approximately 2.2 million people living in one of the five metropolitan districts of Bradford, Calderdale, Kirklees, Leeds and Wakefield. The physical area, of some 2000 square kilometres or 780 square miles, contains the West Yorkshire conurbation and a network of motorway and trunk roads which allow easy access to and from other population centres.

The area is policed by around 5,000 police officers and 3,600 support staff, including Police Community Support Officers. This makes the Force the fourth largest in the country.

The Force area is very varied combining busy cities and towns with quiet villages and picturesque rural locations. People are equally varied and represent a diverse range of ethnic cultural and economic backgrounds.

For this reason, the policing is delivered from 8 separate police divisions, providing most of the day-to-day policing services performed through the county. There are also teams of specialist police and support staff personnel based at headquarters and at various other locations around the Force.

The overwhelming majority of police officers are engaged in operational duties that contribute towards the community safety for the people of West Yorkshire.

West Yorkshire Police has 47 Neighbourhood Policing Teams (NPTs) which are Inspector led and made up of Sergeants, Constables and Police Community Support Officers. Neighbourhood teams are visible and accessible to local communities, providing the familiar face of the service. The teams work closely with communities in defined geographical areas and in partnership to tackle the issues most important to local people.

The Collaboration

Claritas and West Yorkshire Police are working together to bring a unique proposition to both Public and Private Sector organisations. Having worked together for over 8 years, the joining of resources and facilities will give organisations the ability to procure a range of services from co-location in an IL4 Tier 3 plus datacentre through to applications managed by an organisation with over 15 years' experience in one of the UK's most secure facilities.

In a world that is in constant demand for efficiency, this collaboration will give one of the largest UK Police forces the ability to capitalise on the resources that it has invested in. The government and many leading industry commentators have called for the better use of facilities, and this collaboration embraces this vision of being a catalyst in the reduction of the UK's datacentre footprint.

What are the benefits of West Yorkshire Police working with Claritas Solutions?

Whilst some organisations will just be looking to collocate equipment in the datacentres, most organisations are looking for a layer of services, whether that be operating system management, firewall and security management or a fully managed application environment. As West Yorkshire Police are first and foremost a Police force, they therefore needed a strategic trusted partner that would be able to provide a comprehensive range of IT services.
